How to Make a Plan

Thinking about your goals for having or not having children and how to achieve these goals is called a reproductive life plan. There are many kinds for reproductive life plans. Your plan will depend on your personal goals and dreams.

First, think about your goals for school, for your job or career, and for other important things in your life. Then, think about how having children fits in with those goals. If you do not want to have children (now or ever), think about how you will prevent pregnancy and what steps you can take to be as healthy as possible. If you do want to have children one day, think about when and under what conditions you want to become pregnant. This can help ensure that you and your partner are healthy and ready when you choose to have a baby.

Try to include as many details as possible in your plan. Some people find it helpful to write their plan down on a piece of paper or in a journal. Be sure to talk with your health care professionals. Doctors and counselors can help you make your plan and achieve your goals.

Questions to Get Started if You Do Not Want to Have Children

When making a reproductive life plan, the following questions might be helpful. These are probably not all of the questions that you will want to ask yourself, but they will help you to get started.

If you DO NOT want to have children, you might ask yourself:

- How do I plan to prevent pregnancy? Am I sure that I or my partner will be able to use the method chosen without any problems?
- What if I become pregnant by accident?
- What steps can I take to be as healthy as possible?
- What medical conditions (such as diabetes, obesity, mental health issues, and high blood pressure) or other concerns (such as smoking and using drugs) do I need to talk about with my doctor?
- Is it possible I could ever change my mind and want to have children one day?
Questions to Get Started if You Do Want to Have Children

If you DO want to have children one day, you might ask yourself:

- How old do I want to be when I start and when I stop having children?
- How many children do I want to have?
- How many years do I want between my children?
- What method do I plan to use to prevent pregnancy until I’m ready to have children? Am I sure that I or my partner will be able to use this method without any problems?
- What, if anything, do I want to change about my health, relationships, home, school, work, finances, or other parts of my life to get ready to have children?
- Are there any hazards in my home or workplace that could affect a pregnancy? How can these be addressed?
- What steps can I take to be as healthy as possible (such as eating right, getting to or maintaining a healthy weight, and taking prenatal vitamins) before getting pregnant?
- What medical conditions (such as diabetes, obesity, high blood pressure) and mental health issues (such as anxiety or depression) or other concerns (such as smoking and using drugs) do I need to talk about with my doctor?
- What medications (including prescription, over-the-counter, and herbal/natural supplements) am I currently on and how could they affect pregnancy? Is it safe to continue taking them throughout pregnancy?

Take Action

Once you have a plan, take action. For example, if you decide to use birth control, make sure to use it consistently and appropriately. Or, if you decided to quit smoking, follow through and get help if needed.

Keep in mind that your plan doesn’t have to be set in stone. Life is unpredictable! So, make a plan today, give it some thought each year, and expect to make changes along the way.
Examples of Plans

The following are some examples of reproductive life plans:

- I’ve decided that I don’t want to have any children. I will find a good birth control method. Even though I don’t want to have children, I will talk to my doctor about how I can be healthier.

- I am in a good relationship and I’m pretty healthy. I want to stop using birth control and try to get pregnant. I’m going to talk to my doctor to find out what I can do to have a healthy pregnancy.

- I’ve had two kids only a year apart. Both times, it just happened. I want to have another kid before I turn 36, but I want to wait at least 2 years. I’ll talk to my doctor about birth control. This time, I’m going to make sure I get pregnant only when I want to.

- My partner and I have been discussing getting pregnant, but I am on a lot of medications for other health issues. I am going to make an appointment to discuss my medications and health issues with my doctor so I can be sure that me and my baby are healthy during my pregnancy.

- My partner and I are ready to have a child, but we’ll need to use a sperm bank or fertility service to get pregnant. I’ll make sure I’m in good health and financially stable before we use those services.
